

Biography – Professor Charles Kingsland MD FRCOG

Charles is Professor of Reproductive Medicine at Edge Hill University and Clinical Director at CARE Fertility UK, the UK's largest independent fertility group.

He was founder of the Hewitt Fertility Centre in Liverpool which, under his leadership, grew into Britain's largest provider of NHS fertility services, providing over 3,000 cycles of IVF for the North West region and North Wales.

Charles has written and developed the highly successful Mastership courses in Advanced Fertility Practice for Nurses and Doctors which are now in their sixth year.

From 2010 to 2016, he was Fellows Representative for the North West Region on the Council of the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists.

As a media spokesman for the Royal College, Charles appears regularly on local and national radio and is a regular contributor to BBC television.