

Dr. Alexander is a consultant rheumatologist from the Charité - University Medicine Berlin where he is heading the outpatient clinic. The focus of his clinical practice is connective tissue diseases and systemic vasculitides. His research is focused on the investigation of autoreactive immunologic memory in rheumatic diseases, biomarkers in inflammatory rheumatic diseases, new targeted therapeutic approaches for inflammatory and auto-immune diseases, regulatory T cells and autoimmunity.