

What is known about the health of Children Born after PGD/PGS –evidence from research

Alastair Sutcliffe, UK

Outcome studies have been conducted for many years as the children born to sub fertile couples requiring ART have become more numerous, with an estimated 6 million births worldwide.

A spin off of ART, PGD inevitably exposes the early embryo to the risks of ART plus putative risks from embryo biopsy itself. Professor Sutcliffe who has pioneered studies on ART conceived children over the past 25 plus years and is thus quite expert but also happens to be a children's Doctor.

He will give a clinician focussed message so that embryologists and fertility specialist nurses and doctors will be to answer the question. "Doctor what are the risks to my baby/children?" with an over view of the research to date and known outcomes.
